HILL-CLIMBERS A STRONG TEAM

Lynchburg Will Have Splendid Aggregation to Represent Her

ALL ARE MEN WITH RECORDS

Manager Grim Has Gone About Work of Organization With Excellent Judgement.

Mr. J. J. Grim is the pilot that is expected to drive the Lynchburg team to victory this year in the Virginia State Baseball Lengue. He has some rowers that are believed to be there with the that are believed to be there with the goods when it comes to handling the paddle. Himself an experienced man in pushing things along on the wave of boombersity (coince especially for this senson's baseball English-changing pirates), Mister Grim is confident that the city that has a lot of shoe manufacturing places will send out the proper running material to take his players around the sacks at frequent intervals. This Grim proposition saw a baseball diamond first in Chichmath. Since that time he has looked over many places and has seen as much of this country as any other player who dares to get out and look after the horselide. Grim's reputation is all that is necessary, and

C. I. Satman comes from Sharon, Conter. O. He is twenty-two years of age, is a rine batter and thrower; played with Akron, O., in 1904, and last year was with Danville, pennant winners of the Virginia-Carolina League.

James McKevitt halfs from Grand Rapids, Mich. He is twenty-eight years of the record here, both as a student and fifty pounds. He has made an exceiving age, but a veteran in the game. Always batted over 300 in every league he has played in. Led the Canadian League in 1895; was second in Datting in the Dastern League in 1997; played with Memphis in the Southern. #### MANAGER BENNY IS SHAPING UP HIS MEN

Danville Will Chase After the Pennant Under Most Encouraging Conditions.

There are scores of base-ball lovers in Richmond who know J. Benny, manager of the Danville aggregation of horse-lide chasers. He was here for about two weeks last year, doing the back-stop work for the Danville aggregation, after the disbandment of the Virginia-Carolina League.

Cargine to the vision of the fastest in the Virginia Cargine. He is to boss this year, will be one of the fastest in the Virginia State League. Henny will play some, but he will boss a little more. He is a good fellow and knows a base-ball player when he fixes his "lamps" on him.

The percentage of bate-runners that get from the first to the second sack when this manager was behind the rubber is remarkably small, and he has players this season who are just in his class. The Danville team last year walked away with the pennant in the Virginia-Carolina League, and rooters up in that Lengue.

And from the list of names that Benny aends to the sporting editor of The Times-Dispatch, it looks as though there will be same fast playing when the Danville nine walks off the diamond, the

French Count to Make Balloon Trip From Denver to Washington

Does Not Think Attempt to Reach North Pole Is Feasible. Says Guide Rope Killed Andre.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Count Henri de La Vaulx, an aeronaut, arrived here to-day on the stemmer La Savole from Havre. He brought several balloons with which he will make a series of ascensions.

Count La Vaulx is the holder of several world's ballooning records. He covered the distance of 1,300 miles from Parls to Kleff, Russia, in thirty-one hours. He said to-day that he hoped to be able to make a trip by balloon from Denver to Washington.

"That trip is perfectly feasible and could be made in forty hours," he said.

Count de La Vaulx was asked his appliance as to the success of any attempt to reach the north pole in a balloon.

"Count de La Vaulx was asked his appliance as to the success of any attempt to reach the north pole in a balloon.

"Courageous," said he, "but practically now conditions as yet untested. No dirigible balloon has ever remained up our three or four hours."

He asked whether he though it would be better on such a trip to travel as highly and swiftly as possible, or to use a guide rope.

"That trip is perfectly feasible and could be made in forty hours," he said.
